

What is road runoff?

Road runoff can affect the River Chess during heavy rain.

Water runs off the road surface directly into the river, carrying with it sediment and chemicals such as metals from the wear and tear of vehicles.

Sediment can smother the gravels in the river bed and the metals can act as pollutants, harming the plants and animals in the river.